Before you buy, confirm these practical points:Before you sign, confirm these points:

- what parts are covered, and for how long - whether labor is included or separate whether the warranty transfers to a future owner - which maintenance steps are required to keep coverage valid how to file a claim, and what proof is needed

That is especially true on custom projects, premium materials, or Smithtown door installation full-frame replacements.

A rental property, a forever home, and a historic house will not need the same terms.
