The mechanics are simple:

1. The Buy-In: Participants choose a set of cases and settle on the variety of rounds. The overall expense of the cases functions as the entry fee for each player.
2. The Opening: Rounds play out sequentially. In each round, every gamer opens the designated case.
3. The Scoreboard: The worth of every skin dropped is tallied in real-time based upon present market rates.
4. The Winner: At the end of all rounds, the gamer (or group) who has actually collected the highest overall financial value of skins wins all the products dropped in the battle-- consisting of those opened by challengers.

If luck is on a player's side, they can walk away with a stock worth significantly more than their initial buy-in. If luck fails, they lose whatever. It is this high-risk, high-reward dynamic that drives the immense popularity of the format.
