A private vehicle and guide changes the trip. You set departure times, stay with a sighting as long as you like, and skip sites you do not care about.

For photographers, families and anyone with specific interests such as birds or conservation, the difference is large. For a first time traveller on a fixed budget, a shared vehicle is fine.

Private budget masai mara safari guiding costs more, but the per person difference shrinks for groups of four or more. Check whether the guide budget-friendly Kenya safaris is employed by the camp or subcontracted, and whether park fees and fuel are included in the daily rate. Private guide options are at %LINK%.
